

Since 2007, Singaroux has been entertaining audiences with their unique blend of new generation big band. Mixing standards with contemporary tunes in a big band format, there is no musical ensemble in New Orleans quite like Singaroux.

Singaroux was born from the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina. Stranded in a city and a profession ravaged by the great flood of 2005, instrument by instrument our musicians rose from the rebirth of the city and its musical heritage.

Singaroux ain't your daddy's big band. Our music cooks and expands the great american songbook with a jambalaya of songs, genre's and ensembles to fit whatever you venue or event calls for. The group consists of a female vocalist, saxophones, trumpets, trombones, and rhythm section, ready to serve...0% fat 100% fun. We can perform standards, jazz, dixieland, dance and swing tunes appealing to a wide range of music tastes, while staying true to the big band sound, but with a fresh twist. From Frank Sinatra to Norah Jones to Stevie Wonder to Michael Buble', we're a big band with a big kick.

Singaroux has quickly established our place in the New Orleans music scene. And, we're ready to knock your socks off.
